

2016 UC Undergraduate Experience Survey (UCUES) UCR and UC System-wide Comparison

The University of California Undergraduate Experience Survey (UCUES) is an online survey administered at UC Riverside and each of the other undergraduate UC campuses. All UC Riverside undergraduates are invited to participate in the survey. The results obtained from this survey are used for many institutional purposes, such as identifying obstacles to undergraduate success, providing undergraduate student input into academic program reviews, learning more about students' financial concerns, and understanding the campus climate and student satisfaction. The data may also be used at an aggregate data level for academic research purposes after obtaining the appropriate Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval.

The 2016 survey has three parts:

1. Academic Experience, Campus Life Experience, and Future Plans;
2. Background and Personal Characteristics;
3. Questions of Special Interest to the Campus.

UCUES is administered online and coordinated through UC Office of the President, at all undergraduate campuses in even numbered years. In 2016, 63,129 UC students participated in the survey system-wide, producing a 33% response rate. 5,210 of UCR students participated in the survey, producing a 29% response rate. The attached results compare the UCR student survey responses with all UC system-wide student responses.
